The Dog Days of Summer!

Are you ready to go paperless?

In today's electronic world, research shows that only one-third of organizations use both paper and digital content in their workflows. Paper still has a stranglehold on day-to-day activities, and effectively tracking documents is both costly and hard to do. What happens when the invoice you leave on a coworker's desk gets buried under other files? Or worse yet, gets lost entirely and has to be recreated?

The need to manage data is widespread, spanning all industries and departments-but it doesn't have to be a struggle. The answer is simple-DocLink, Altec's leading document management solution that has the full endorsement and backing of Sage.

DocLink provides you with greater control and visibility of the data so critical to your business-providing easy, secure, and controlled access to documents across your organization for any process anywhere, anytime!

So if you're buried in paper and need a solution to help, contact us to learn more about how DocLink can help you go paperless.
